Recovery Services

Crestone Recovery DUI programming serves the needs of individuals who have received a DUI, DWAI, or DUID charge. This program works to facilitate the development of skills to promote healthier lifestyle choices, and gain awareness of potential problem areas which can result in future problematic driving behaviors.

Educational Treatment

Clients start treatment in one of our Office of Behavioral Health (OBH) licensed Level I or Level II education groups (level determined by court and assessment ratings). Ranging from 12-24 hours of education, these groups encourage participants to develop understanding of the impact of different substance use in various areas of their lives. The groups will help individuals explore what changes they'd like to make in order to avoid future driving related charges.

Goal Setting and Relapse Prevention

Following the completion of their educational treatment, clients may begin Level II therapy groups. In this phase of treatment, clients explore many aspects of their own change process, including family, emotions, substance use, and other facets of life. The objective of this phase of treatment is preventing recidivism and relapse with the overall goal of developing strategies for responsible living and change.

Referral Services

Clients enrolled in Crestone Recovery DUI programming have the added benefit of being able to be easily referred to core Crestone Recovery Services. As indicated through our assessment process individuals can participate in an array of treatment groups and individual services to include co-occurring treatment, behavioral health services, and medication management services.
