

The Crisis Living Room

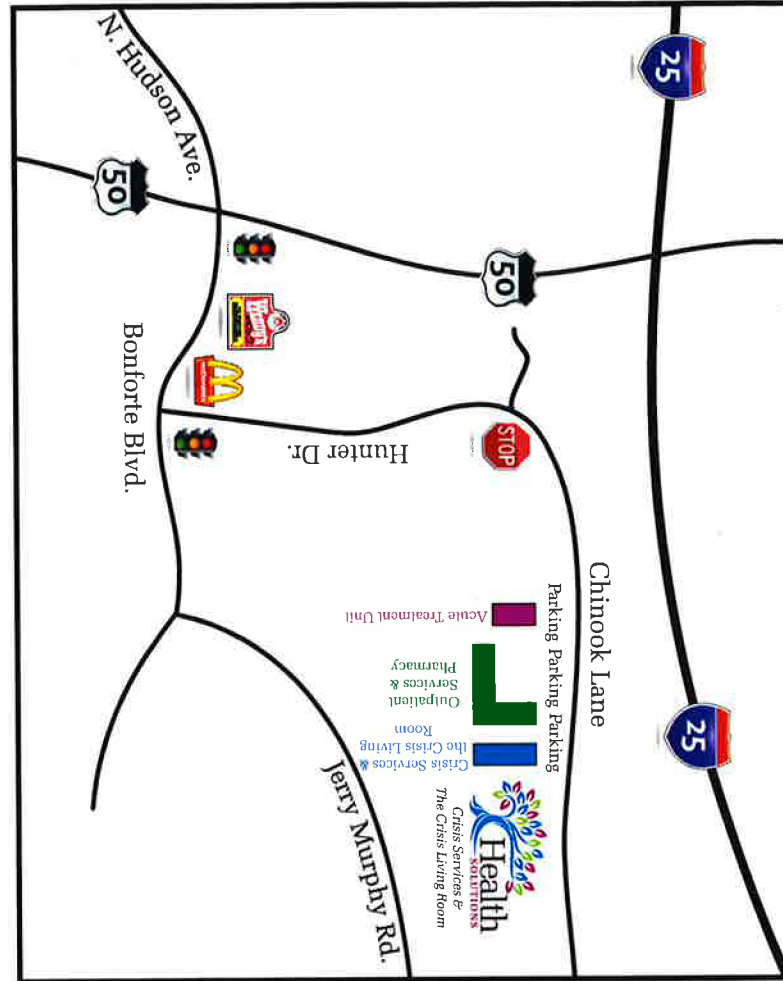

The Health Solutions Crisis Living Room offers guests a non-clinical, calm and safe environment for adults experiencing a situational issue, emotional upset, or personal crisis (e.g., divorce, loved one's death, family issues, medical diagnosis, job loss, etc.). Our facility is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The Crisis Living Room is staffed by those with personal experience managing the challenges of daily living, raising a family, workplace issues, medical conditions, and more. The facility allows individuals to receive intervention, support, and mentoring in a safe and non-institutional environment. Unlike hospital emergency rooms, the Living Room offers immediate care with no waiting room.

A safe place to rest and relax, the Living Room is based on recovery principles of autonomy, respect, hope, and personal empowerment.

The Living Room provides a wide array of resources, including:

- Crisis evaluation and counseling
- Professional support from a dedicated and licensed clinician
- Assistance with problem solving
- Assistance with referring to other community agencies regarding emergency housing, healthcare, food and mental health services

Our Crisis Living Room

The Crisis Living Room

The staff from the Crisis Living Room is available immediately for individuals looking for a safe place in which to collect their thoughts and/or talk to someone about issues that are aggravating behavioral health issues they may be facing.

The calm and relaxing environment of the Living Room allows individuals time to de-escalate impending behavioral health crises, develop safety plans, and teach coping skills. Our Peer Specialists can help connect individuals with community resources regarding emergency housing, healthcare, food and mental health services.

The Living room is appropriate for guests that meet the following criteria:

- Adults 18 years or older who are voluntarily visiting the Living Room
- Experiencing behavioral, emotional, or psychiatric crises that are severe enough for an emergency room visit.
- May be experiencing suicidal or homicidal thoughts
- Are not at risk for violent outbursts
- Can independently move body freely or be able to manage special equipment safely without assistance
- If special equipment is required, the individual must be able to manage the equipment safely without assistance
- The Living Room is not for individuals who are under the influence of drugs or alcohol. These individuals should visit a detox facility before coming to the Living Room for services.
